

ALL HONOR TO THE HEROES OF 1864

DECORATION DAY cannot fail to bring to our minds the terrible hardships endured by the men and women of fifty years ago—while they were fighting for their rights.

¶ The contrast between their mode of life and ours make our modern conveniences seem almost luxurious.

¶ While this vast advantage over the men and women of '64, our desire to look our best, in their honor, on the day of all the year which is dedicated to them, is indeed praiseworthy—in view of this fact you will be intensely interested in new apparel at this time.

¶ This store has, with its customary forethought, carefully selected a good showing of early summer merchandise to meet your approval for the occasion.

Try a peach melba ice at Russell's the Red Cross Pharmacy.

Among the visitors in the city yesterday was John A. Foss of Plainfield.

Sprague Drennan, a student at Dartmouth college, Hanover, arrived in the city to-day for a visit at his home on Washington street.

A rehearsal for Children's day will be held at the Methodist church this (Saturday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A large attendance is desired.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Roberts of Manchester have returned to their home after having been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Hutchinson of Wellington street.

George N. Tilden of South Main street was able to be at his place of business in the Aldrich building to-day, after having been confined to the house for several days by an attack of the grippe.

Children of the grades in the Church street school assembled in the Hedding Methodist church yesterday and listened to an interesting patriotic talk by Rev. Edgar Crossland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Having sold its stock and fixtures, the Perry & Camp store is to retire from the mercantile business in Barre. The purchaser, Newell Atwood of Boston, will come to this city next week to take charge of his purchase.

Farm property located in Fayston and owned by Grant Edman has been sold to Clarence Jones of Montpelier, who buys for a home. This property is estimated to keep about 20 cows. The personal property includes all the farm tools and machinery. Negotiations were made through the Vermont Real Estate agency.

Meadow Brook golf club will begin their season's activities in real earnest at the Brook street course Memorial day, when a stroke competition will be started at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. A large number of club members have signified a desire to participate in the tournament and three prizes for scoring positions will be given by the club.

Corporal Fred C. Donald, who has been making a three weeks' stay at his former home in Groton, was a guest yesterday of Alexander Hall of Ayers street. Corporal Donald is assigned to duty on the U. S. S. Vermont and a 30 days' furlough which he has been enjoying will end June 4, when he is to rejoin his ship at Norfolk, Va., where the Vermont has been undergoing minor repairs.

Only one baseball game is on to-day's sporting calendar in Barre. This afternoon Goddard and the I. A. C. will wind up their series. Monday the Italians play the Green Mountain Athletics a double header at Berlin street and the Barre A. C. and Goddard will play two games at the campus. There will be baseball at both places, forenoon and afternoon.

A couple of Boston bulldogs which make a business of attacking hens, chickens and cats, continued their trail of blood yesterday afternoon over a considerable section of the city, killing a pet cat, digging under henhouses in at least two places and killing several fowls both young and old in each visit before being driven off. About every time these dogs go out on a rampage the city has a bill to pay for fowl killed.

Four thriving jitney bus lines are in operation between Barre and Montpelier, where a fortnight ago people who are interested in intercity traffic were talking of one man's tenacity in establishing a single car service, predicting the while that its existence would be brief. Edward G. Miller is the pioneer of the jitney enterprise in Barre, but the service which he began some two weeks ago proved the forerunner for three additional lines.

A largely attended social gathering of the Presbyterian Bible class, composed of young men and young women of the First Presbyterian church, was held in the vestry of the church last evening. Through the generous efforts of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Crossland, the young people have been given the use of a postcard projector, which was utilized with entertaining results at the social. Many brought picture postcards and the travelogue for the evening took the form of a trip through Scotland. The pastor portrayed an interesting talker and his word pictures were greatly enjoyed. Refreshments of ice cream and wafers were served late in the evening. The projector will be used for trips through other countries in the near future.

A small army of carpenters, painters and artisans, who have been rushing work at the new Hotel Barre completed most of their work to-day and left for their home in Boston and New York. A fraction of the big force which has been engaged on the hotel for the past month will remain on the job until sometime next week, as there are numerous odds and ends to attend to before the contractors, W. S. Swallow & Co. turn the building over to the incorporators. Considerable time will be required to place the furniture and fittings in position, but there is every indication that the contracting company will have finished its work well within the time set forth in the contract.
